CMI ELECTRICAL INDUSTRY NOTICE

CMI Electrical have become aware that Surefit Glands have been modified and used on Flameproof enclosure sold by Pempek.

These glands have been modified by a third party (not CMI Electrical) and utilised on flameproof enclosures.

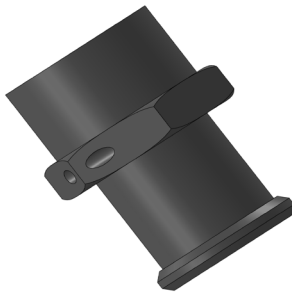

The modification of these glands results in the following:

- Brings the integrity of the gland into doubt;
- Invalidates the certification for the gland as it no longer complies with its certification.

We have discussed this matter with our certification body, who agree that the modified glands no longer comply with their certification.

This modification, which is drilling of a hole across the flats of the locknut, is illustrated below:

Sketch of modification

CMI Electrical advise all users, accredited workshops and other interested parties, that where this modified product is found in use, to contact the equipment supplier to discuss replacement.
